Narrator: A big fat frog lives in a little shallow pond. All animals in the pond love the Frog.

I am so happy here in the little pond! I am the biggest animal here.

Oh, we like your beautiful voice. Can you sing a song for us?

Croak, croak, croak!

One day a pretty Dragon-fly passes by.

Hello, pretty Dragon-fly.

Hello, pretty Dragon-fly.

Hi, you are a very fine frog. But your pond is little. Do you know my pond?

No, I don't.

No, he doesn't.

My pond is very nice and big. There are some fine fish and dangerous ducks.

And where is your pond?

And where is your pond?

It isn't far from here. Come with me.

Are there any frogs in your pond?

Are there any frogs in your pond?

Oh, there are lots of frogs!

OK, I'll go.

OK, he'll go.

The Frog hopped after the Dragon-fly to the big pond.

I don't like the big pond. The frogs are rude here and the ducks are very dangerous.

Who are you?

I am a big Frog.

Other frogs (laughing): Haha, you are not big. You are a little foolish frog. We will catch you, little foolish frog! We will bite you, little foolish frog.

We will eat you up, we will eat you up, little foolish frog!

Oh, I want to go back home. A little pond is better than a big pond.

Suddenly a big Stork comes.

Who are you?

I am a big Stork. And I like frogs. For dinner!

Oh, no! Oh, no! I will run back to my little pond.

(The frog runs away.)
